From the Stern and the Forward Part Floated, Saving Part of Her People.

NEW YORK, May 5 .- A dispatch from Norfolk reports that the Old Dominion liner Hamilton and the Clyde liner Sagi-

Iner Hamilton and the Clyde liner Saginaw were in collison, and that a number of passengers were drowned.

A long-distance telephone report to the Evening World places the number of drowned at 200. The collision occurred at 1240 a. m., off Hog Island. The Saginaw was bound for Philadelphia from Norfolk. She carried a crew of 40 men and 20 pas-sengers. The Hamilton carried a full crew and more than 100 passengers.

Soon after passing the Jersey coast the Hamilton ran into a fog which lasted all night. It is believed that this fog was responsible for the accident.

The Hamilton was going at three-quar-ters speed off Hog Island, when the passengers were suddenly thrown from their berths, and in an instant all was confusion, and as the passengers managed to reach the deck they learned there had been a collision. In the fog could be seen dimly, across the bows of the Hamilton a steamer about her own size. Those on board the other steamship outed that they were sinking, and in reply to questions answered that their boat was a Clyde line steamer and that the name fas the Saginaw. The Saginaw had been struck about twenty feet from the stern on the starboard side, and her stern had been cut through as cleanly as if it and been done by men in a drydock. The stern sank almost immediately and the forward part drifted several hundred yards, as soon as possible the boats of the Hamilton, which had been the forward part drifted several hundred yards, as soon as possible the boats of the Hamilton, which had been the forward part drifted several hundred yards, as soon as possible the boats of the Hamilton, which had been the forward part drifted several hundred yards, as soon as possible the boats of the Hamilton. Mr. Folk replied that he appreciated the spirit and impulses which prompted such an unexpected token of appreciation of his efforts, but that he did not think he could ccept such a large gift.

Mr. McLeod stated to the Post-Dispatch that the committee would hold anothe meeting this afternoon, and that more definite plans would be decided upon.

He did not care, he said, to discuss the details of the handsome offer made to Mr. Folk at this time, as he preferred to wait until all arrangements had matured.

Mr. Folk declined to discuss the matter.

LORAIN, O., May 5.—Did the Rev.
Ferdinand Walser, the priest who is in jail at Elyria, kill Miss Agatha Reichlin? That a constant fear and dread as to what the s the question being asked by everybody in Lorain today, despite the fact that the coroner's inquest will probably not develop sufficient evidence to place a charge

For the first time since the tragedy, Cas-simir Reichlin, the younger brother of the murdered girl, who was in the house last Thursday night when the crime was committed, has told his story of the happening of the night. The statement details how Father Walser, Agatha and Cassimir spent the evening in talking and singing. simer says he was awakened about 1 o'clock by the priest rushing into his room and excitedly stating that burglars were in the house. He arose and ran into his sis-ter's room and found her lying in her bed covered with blood and dead. He then searched the house, but found no one. "I went downstairs and called up central and told the operator to notify the police.

deedled to go to a saloon and get liquor. Father Walser was arriad to stay alone, so officer Maaterson stayed with him. It took a gallon flug and went to the saloon. I have been incensed by the stories which have been circulated that we were drinking before we went to bed. It was untrue."

"You have every confidence that Father Walser is not guilty of the crime with which he is charged?" was asked. "If Father Walser is guilty then a guilt of the crime with which he is charged?" was asked. "If Father Walser is not guilty of the crime with which he is charged?" was asked. To support this theory it was pointed out that he gave the first alarm, saying that he heard Miss Reichlin scream. But the doctors said she was murdered while she slept.

It was discovered that the stone with which Miss Reichlin was killed, and which was afterward thrown into the yard, had been kept in the house for some time, being placed before a doof to keep it open. Why Was Stone Thrown Away?

Why did the murderer, after committing the crime, carry the stone, with which Miss why did the murderer, after committing the crime, carry the stone, with which Miss Reichlin's skull had been crushed, back through the attic and throw it out of the window into the back yard?

If the crime was committed by a stranger unfamiliar with the premises, how did he find his way through the attic into Miss Reichlin's room and commit the crime without a light?

The priest in his story of his experiences on Thursday night said that he heard the man striking a match after he had heard Miss Reichlin groaning, and the supposition is that the murderer had just lighted the candle, by the glow of which the priest saw the fellow's face when the latter opened the door from Miss Reichlin's room. One point that is being urged against the accused priest is that there is a big St. Bernard dog at the Reichlin home, which has few equals as a watch dog. The dog was in the kitchen of the home on the night of the murder, but made no demonstration whatever.

If Father Walser entered Miss Reichlin's room with an improper purpose, and the murder resulted from her resentment of his advances, why was there not a struggle or an outcry that would have aroused casimir Reichlin, who slept in an adjoining room?

But if a burglar committed this crime

He and Frank Schramm Charged With Cruelty to Animals at

The cases against Col. Zack Mulhall and Frank Schramm, one of his cowboys who are charged with cruelty to animals will be tried on May 28. They were con-tinued until that time by consent when they were called in the Second District police court Monday before Judge Pol-lard.

Mulhall and Schramm were arrested by Officer Doherty of the St. Louis Humane Society on Sunday afternoon, during the roping and riding exhibition at the Fair

The arrests were made because two of the steers were killed by the roping.

Steers were released from the enclosure one at r. time, and the cowboys gave chase, the object being to stop the animals by casting a rope about their feet. Two of the steers were thrown so hard that their necks were broken.

On being taken to the police station mulhall and Schramm were at once bailed out by Charles Lemp, and then they returned to the grounds. The performance was not interrupted.

asks herself when she reads of the cures of womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription.

Why shouldn't it cure her?

Is it a complicated case? Thousands of such cases have been cured by "Favorite Prescription." Is it a condition which local doctors have declared incurable? Among the hundreds of thousands of sick women cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription there are a great many who were pronounced incurable by local doctors. Wonders have been worked by "Favorite Prescription" in the cure of irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Three years ago, "writes Mrs. John Graham, of sois Flumb Street, (Brankford) Fhiladelphia, Fa., "I had a very bad attack of dropsy which left me with heart trouble, and also a very weak back. At times I was so bad that I did not know what to do with myself. My children advised me to take your 'Favorite Prescription.' but I had been taking so much medicine from the doctor that I was discouraged with everything. I came to Philadelphia two years ago, and picting up one of your little books one day began to read what your medicine had done for others, I determined to try it sayself. I took seven bottles, and to-day I am a strong, well woman, weighing 162 pounds. Have gained 29 pounds since I started to use 'Favorite Prescription.' Mrs. Kemp, Sister of "Reggie" Vanderbilt's Bride, Charges Desertion.

HOLLIS HUNNEWELL IS SAID TO BE HER SECOND CHOICE

His Wife Divorced Him Last Summer on the Broad Ground of Flagrant Indiscretions With an Unidentified Woman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEWPORT, R. I., May 5.-Mrs. Arthur Tryn Kemp, sister of Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, will ask for a divorce in Newport on next Monday, and it is probable her husband will not oppose the action. Desertion or non-support will be the ground, as the Rhode Island laws are comparatively easy. Mrs. Kemp is in Newport and her husband in Europe. On the heels of the statement that the Kemp divorce suit will be started on Monday comes a strong rumor that as soon as Mrs. Kemp is free she will become the bride of Hollis P. Hunnewell, whose wife livorced him last August. The devotion of Mr. Hunnewell to Mrs. Kemp last winter,

Mrs. Hunnewell obtained her divorce on the broad ground of flagrant indiscretions with an "unidentified" woman. For weeks there was much gossip, but the name of the woman never became public, though a prominent society leader was much talked

The Kemp divorce will not startle so ciety, as the couple have been living apart for more than a year and have never been in one city at the same time since the day Mrs. Kemp left their mansion in Fifth avenue. She went to her mother's home at 100 Fifth avenue. Directly after Mrs. Kemp returned to the home of the Neilsons, Kemp returned to the home of the Neilsons, her relatives made two statements. One was that Mrs. Kemp was ill and the other that they held Arthur Kemp to blame.

Gradually the story of Mrs. Kemp's illness explained the strange separation. For almost five years the pair had been contented to all appearances, when suddenly the young wife became ill. In her nervous state, her husband became repulsive to her. She could not give reasons for this antipathy, but she was peaceful only when far away from him.

Mrs. Neilson took her daughter to a camp in the Adirondacks and another pligrimage was made to Florida in the hope that a change of scene and climate would restore the young woman's shattered nerves. She clung to her child, little Chiffon, but pleaded against seeing her husband.

The Appetite of Human Nature

When Uneeda Biscult were first introduced, a conservative said:

"They are all right as far as they go, but they won't satisfy the worker. The worker, you see, wants something solid, and substantial, and plain-like potatoes, cabbage, or beef. These delicate and crisp biscuit, packed so daintily, in that In-er-seal Package, will not appeal to him any more than winter strawberries."

That sounded like good reasoning. But fact upsets theory.

Workers everywhere have been great consumers of Uneeda Biscult The outdoor worker, seated at noon upon the sidewalk, a house wall for his back rest; mill hands in the mill yard, seated on comfortable bales; teamsters and draymen, on their high box scats-all have eaten Uneeda Biscult, and their wives have eaten them, and their children have eaten them.

Another conservative took another view:

"Uneeda Biscult are all right," he said. "to sell to the workers, but you must not expect to sell them to the more prosperous people. They are too cheap. Five cents a package—that kills Uneeda Biscuit so far as the wealthy are concerned. The price should be higher—they are worth it."

That, too, sounded reasonable, but it also turned out to be only theory. For the greatest grocers of the city and of the country say Uneeda Biscuit have taken the place of the more expensive biscuit. Over 200,000,000 packages have been consumed.

The worker cats Uneeda Biscuit because of their goodness.

The wealthy eat them because of their delicacy.

The whole world eats them because they represent the highest value as a food product-pure, wholesome, good.

The appetite of human nature always relishes a good change of diet-Uneeda MHK Blacut is a change that never disappoints.

Recent Marked Improvement Caused Examination to Be Made in Hope That He Had Recovered From Disease.

The police, relieved from the strain dedication week, are assisting the Health Department authorities in a leper hunt. Dong Gong, the Chinese leper, who near Quarantine, two miles south of Jefferon Barracks, is being sought.

The Celestial, formerly a thriving laun dryman on Easton avenue, has been in enforced seclusion for the last 18 months. He is believed to be seeking his brother, Lou Gong, at one time employed in a laundry operated by Wah Jim at 15 South

Although Dong Gong's condition has apparently been somewhat improved since his ostracism from society commenced, he is still regarded too dangerous to public health.

During his confinement Dong Gong proved a tractable patient. J. R. White, the keeper, discovered Monday after, noon that his charge had torn down the wire fence which surrounded the one-room building. He found the food that had been handed in at noon undisturbed. Dong Gong, during his stay in seclusion, had not only all necessary comforts, but apparatus and material for industrial experiments. He did little with the tools.

Marvellous Change for the Better in Conditions Shown on Every Side.

DUBLIN, April 24.—There is no parallel in the history for the marvelous change that is taking place at present, both in a material and sentimental way in this counry. On every side there is inspiring evidence of recredescence of a nation, and throughout the land there is a spirit of hopefulness such as has not existed for more than a hundred years.

The most striking evidence of the changed condition of affairs is the remark-able falling off in emigration. Agents of the big transatiantic steamship companies that sail from Queenstown declare that the decrease, which has been gradual for several years, has this season reached a lepth that means but one thing, and that that the era of abnormal emigration has passed for ever.

Of course, this is easily accounted for by the fact that there is adeni te prospect of the passage of the Land Pur-chase act, which will in effect throw pen for cultivation millions of acres of and which are now idle. These lands will be accessible to the thousands of sturdy young men and women who otherwise would have to seek employment in the United States, hence the falling off in the sorrowful procession o the emigrant ships.

Aside from this prospective view of the good times ahead there is a tangible evidence of progress in every field of industry. Coincident with all this comes the revival of the old Gaellic tongue. To this latter revival may be attributed the stimulus that has been felt in many kinds of Irish manufactures—noticeably, wear apparel. Irish poplin—than which there is no richer dress fabric—is being turned out in quantities immensely in excess of the products of former years while the demand for Irish tweeds and linens is exceptionally gratifying. There is a notable improvement in the paper trade, the shipping industry and paper trade, the shipping industry and the export trade, so far as it applies to butter, cheese, eggs and other farm pro-ducts. Thanks to the high price of American meats, the farmers of this country are realizing better returns for cal Feat by Charging Its Food With Chemicals.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.-Warren T. clark, the student assistant in entomology at the University of California, has done with land form of insect life almost wha Dr. Jacques Loeb, the eminent biologist who recently took the chair of physiology at the university, has done with marine forms of insect life-demonstrated that with the aid of powerful chemical solutions life and growth can be regulated at the will.

In a series of experiments that Mr. Clark as just concluded he has made the discov-is due to chemical excitation alone, and not to any causes that have formerly been regarded as natural by the entomologists who have studied the growth of the insect. In the past the reasons for the growth of their wings have been assigned to a short food supply, to starvation, and to the condition of the temperature, which have forced the insect to grow wings in order to protect itself from extinction.

Careful examination, however, of the ingredients of the insect's food supply has completely contradicted these early theories and established the imply tant point that these appendages are created through that is made possible by the charging of the insect's food material, particularly, with soluble saits of magnesium.

John McGillicuddy, who was shot at and beaten by Ryan, has not been found by the police.

One version of Ryan's escape from St. Louis after the shooting is that he went direct from the saloon where the fight with his former partner occurred, ko Union Station, where he was joined by his wife, Summer Home of Mrs. Roads and W. C. T. U. Building Destroyed.

BUCKET BRIGADE CARRY WATER FROM THE RIVER

Nothing Saved From Mrs. Roads' Cot tage, but Most of the Contents of W. C. T. U. Cottage Were Carried Out.

Fire at the Plasa Bluffs Chautauqua rounds, 40 miles north of East St. Louis, on the Illinois shore of the Mississippi riv-er, destroyed two cottages and caused a less of about $2000 early Tuesday morn-

Albert Risley, caretaken of the cottage of Mrs. Nettie Roads of Jerseyville, built a fire in the kitchen stove in the cottage at 5:30, and half an hour later when Mrs. Risley went to the kitchen, she found the inside of the room ablaze.

The men on the grounds, not more than 10, answered the alarm, and formed a buck-et brigade, using back water from the river that invades the grounds.

They were unable to save the Roads cot-tage or any of the conjents, and the W. C. F. U. building, to the rear of the Roads cottage facing another avenue, was also surned burned.

The portable contents of the W. C. T. U. cottage were aved.

Mrs. Roads had been on the grounds for several days preparing her cottage for the season and expected to take up her residence there wery soon.

Both cottages were well built for summer cottages, but were not finished as residences. The W. C. T. U. cottage was two stories. stories.

The bucket brigade had much hard work in keeping the fire from spreading to other

FARRIS WANTED HERE, BUT HAS DISAPPEARED

John A. Lee, Emmett Newton and Representative Louis Tichacek Are Witnesses Before St. Louis Examining Body.

'Attorney-General Crow stated to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday morning that so far as he is concerned the investigation into legislative boodling has not ended with the adjournment of the Cole County grandjury and that if the new evidence now ac-cumulating warrants an effort will be made without delay to have another jury called.
He reiterated his desire to secure as a

He says it is in a better state of preservation now than in 1876, when he was last there, and that few changes have been made in the house or the surroundings.

A party of friends accompanied Gen. Grant and Mrs. Grant on the trip and the general told many stories of the life of his father, Gen. U. S. Grant, on the old farm before the way.

Mr. Coove Kratzmer, retired carpenter, of 2223 Warren street, Seventeenth ward, says: "I did not know exactly what it was called, but from a description given in an advertisement about Doan's Ointment I thought I had eczema of my legs and body. They itched so bad that I could got sleep, and scratching to get relief made matters worse. I tried a number of preparations and even consulted a physician, who did me little if any good. Doan's Ointment came to my notice through an advertisement, and my daughter went to Wollf-Wilson's, corner Sixth and Washington avenue, for a box. It gave me relief the first night and in a few days cured absolutely."

Marine Engineers, Teamsters and Breakfast Food Makers Idle.

Three strikes are on in St. Louis and there seems to be small prospect of immediate settlement of any of them.

The Wiggins Ferry Co. is bringing additional boats to St. Louis. President Kavanugh says he does not intend to treat with the Union of Marine Engineers.

The union teamsters of the St. Louis Transfer Co. are out. Fresident George J. Tansey is ill and cannot meet the men. It is said this strike was called because four nonunion man and the company of the men and the company of the men and the company of the stranged him up to Saturday. He objected to leave Friday. May Sale of Muslin Undergarments

Which commenced yesterday, is proving to be one of the most successful sales in our history. It's on a much broader and more liberal scale than has ever the St. Louis public. Way back in January we contracted for these garments. Our buyer visited a number of America's best mills-purchased all the better mill ends and short lengths of muslin, cambric, nainsook, laces, embroideries, etc., exact copies of fabrics and trimmings used in garments priced double our May sale prices. She sent the two of the best New York manufacturers with instructions to make them up in the swellest 1903 styles when other work was slack. In this manner more time and at was devoted to their manufacture and at a considerable saving in cost. Each garment in this sea of whiteness possesses an individuality of style and cleverness only the highest priced goods. The sale continues tomorrow and this entire week. Attend it-profit by it. You'll vote it the MOST GENEROUS VALUE-GIVING event of the year.

Judge Foster was accompanied by Herman Harchert, chief probation officer; Wilman Harchert, chief probation officer; William C. Nolte, superintendent of the House of Refuge; Miss Mary E. Perry, secretary of the Missouri State Board of Charittes; W. H. McClain, secretary of the Provident Association; Mrs. Eliot, and others interested in charitable and correction work.

The 12 states in which the juvenile court law is in force will be represented by their judges of the courts. Plans for bettering the work will be discussed.

father when they met after 16 years' separation.
In the fall of 1887 a fire destroyed Poston's sawmill, his store and house. Everything that he had gained by years of toil was swept away in one night. Poston was distracted by the ruin wrought. In vain his wife tried to comfort him. Poston could see nothing for him in the future and seemed to be inconsolable.
One day, however, he got a contract to build a bridge at Cairo, Ill., and while he was not his old self the family took heart for the future. Bidding his wife and children good-by Poston set out for Cairo. That was the last seen of him until last Sunday, when he greeted his son in St. Louis.

CHAPTER II.

For years the Poston family struggled with adversity. The brave mother battled with the world to support her children. hope that her husband might be alive, Poston exhausted every resource of information. Once she heard that he was to Poston exhausted every resource of information. Once she heard that he was in Louisiana, through a report from the pension office. Her oldest son, Arthur, then 14 years of age, went to Opaloosa, La., seeking his father, but found that the man George Poston there was not he. While, the boy did not remember his father's face, for purposes of identification, he bore the recollection of the severed fingers.

The family, in the course of time, moved to Centralia, Ill., and as the three boys in the family—Arthur, George and Charles—grew up, they helped their mother earn a livelihood.

When Arthur was of age he bade his mother good-bye and started out into the world to make a better home for them all. He came to St. Louis. He was an ambitious young fellow, and was willing to take any work he could get. When he alighted from the train at Union Station the first man he saw who looked like an official proved to be the superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

"I want work." said young Poston. "Anything will do."

The superintendent liked the boy's looks and put him to work, and for nine years young Foston has been in the employ of that company.

With Arthur Poston's position in St. Louis the fortunes of the family began to improve. Every month the brave lad sent the bulk of his wages to his mother for the support of herself and his young brothers.

In all the years he has been in Havana, in spite of his business acumen, he has been unable to recall his past. For hours he sat and tried to call up incidents in the career he had left, but the past was a blank.

In the course of time he went into the tobacco plantation in the Vuelto Abajo province, in which the choicest plants on the island grew, and became a tobacco commissioner in Havana.

All the time he retained his, photograph gallery and as his business grew in that line he made business connections with dealers in photographic supplies in St. Louis.

The hand of fate wrought this, for it was because of it that he met again and was reconciled to his long deserted family.

For several years he had bought goods from St. Louis houses, and having read of the World's Fair dedication ceremonies he thought it would be a good time to visit St. Louis. He would take a holiday and attend to business at the same time. It was a fortunate thought. CHAPTER IV. Sight of His Boy's Name Awakened Elusive Half-Memories.

For a day and a night he struggled with elusive memories, now almost caught but escaping him. Then he thought to end them by finding this other man who bore his name. Memory Returns and Reconcilation

With Family Follows. Poston found the house 2027 Eugenia street. As he stepped upon the porch and

JUDGE HAZELL'S SUGGESTION.

Discouraged by the obstacle placed in the way of the Cole County grandjury's investigation of legislative corruption by the supreme court's decision in the Hickox and Page cases, Judge Hazell suggests amendments to the law which will enable the court to force witnesses to testify before a grandjury.

The supreme court decided that a witness could not be forced o testify if he thought his testimony would incriminate himself. Judge Hazell thinks the court and not the witness should be the judge of the question of whether or not the evidence of the witness is self-incriminating. He thinks that the law should provide that state's witnesses shall be immune from punishment Judge Hazell suggests a question of the highest importance The decision of the supreme court seems to supply a bulwark behind which the unscrupulous members of a combine formed for corruption may shelter themselves. It increases the difficulty of obtaining evidence of bribery, a task which was sufficiently difficult to make prosecution and conviction of corruptionists rare occurrences. To permit all witnesses before a the Des Peres were badly nipped by the grandjury to plead the protection of the constitution and make them the judges of the question of the incriminating mature of their information, would seem to offer to unscrupulous persons the opportunity to avoid testifying concerning others and at the same time avoid the danger of indictment for perjury.

The immunity enjoyed now by state's witnesses who give selfocriminating testimony rests wholly with the prosecuting officer. would have been commendable had it not been so disastrous to It is a traditional rule that witnesses who serve the state shall not be prosecuted. The discretion of the prosecutor at times is a powerful lever to force all the truth from a witness who has given partial information. It places the guilty witness at the mercy of the prosecutor.

But a remedy should be devised for the apparent weakness Perhaps it is the great number of undigested securities that of the present law. The amendments suggested by Judge Hazell, while enabling the court to force a witness to testify, would protect him from the consequences of self-incrimination.

Justice is the purpose of law, not the protection of the guilty. and if a way can be devised to render the task of obtaining evidence of corruption easier, without violating fundamental rights or endangering the liberty of innocent persons, the state should have the benefit of it.

However, Judge Hazell and Attorney-General Crow should not be discouraged by obstacles. The success of a grandjury investigation of corruption depends largely upon the skill and persistence of the prosecution. The plea of a witness that the information he possesses is self-incriminating is a confession of guilt which a public officer or legislator would be slow to offer, and if offered would at least result in his disgraceful retirement from public life. Somebody has suggested that the freaks of our seasons may be caused by the un-conscious power of the human mind. Why not? Pleasant Green is disposed to look upon the theory with favor.

In the spring all the fat men want it to keep cold; the thin men wish the weather to get warm as soon as possible.

For a time the united will of the fat men, acting unconsciously, prevails, and "winter lingers in the lap of spring."

But after a while the desire of the thin men preponderates, particularly as the fat men believe that summer will come any way. Then we have a few warm days Then a fierce and united desire for cool ness goes forth from the men of girth and adipose tissue. The desire of the thin men killed. Whether he be fat or thin, this is too much for him and for the country. Everybody unites in wishing that the weather shall moderate and summer reign. How to Wash White Silk.

White silk should be washed in tepid water with white soap. It should be rinsed at once in tepid borax water, then put through two clear waters. Finally it should be dipped in luke-warm water to which has been added a suspicion of liquid blueing. It should be shaken until almost dry, not wrung and froned damp.

This idea that women should seek to become wage-earners—should work for money—is not one to be dismissed with a mere phrase or two. Its growing effects are too pernicious to admit of that. The conditions which confront us are so different from the theories, with which advocates of the economic independence of women seek to dazzie us, as to demand some reconciliation. One would suppose, to hear the argument for it, that there is something directly ennobling in such wage-earning. Its ment for it, that there is something directly ennobling in such wage-earning. Its advocates seem to hold the idea that the business world opens up vistas of intellectual advancement and enfranchisement. Any one who has ever watched the stream of girl toilers pouring down the minor avenues at 6 o'clock, or who has made a study of their industrial pursuits, can judge how far they are elevated, or likely to be, by their employment and its remunerations. What we need is a reaction against the madness of social destruction that has of late years turned our girls into wage earners.—The Household for May.

French Beefsteaks.

The favorite beefsteak in France is a filet de Chateaubriand. This is easy to secure if one can obtain an entire tenderion of beef. This may be procured in two of three ways. Buy an entire stricin or beef and cut out the tenderion. A butcher will charge as much as $1 or $1.5 a pound for the entire sirloin.

A steak a la Chateaubriand must be cut A steak a la Chateaubriand must be cut from well-kept beef at least six weeks old when the filet is taken from it, and the filet must rest in the icehouse, at a uniform temperature, for as much lengar after it has been removed. Careful cooks inclose the filet in a thick paste of flour and water to keep the juices from drying out. This paste is, of course, removed when the steaks are cut. When these stakes are cooked they are so tender that literally they melt in the mouth. The filet is cut crosswise in slices about an field and thresquarters or an inch and a half in thickness, seasoned with salt and peoper, rubbed Among the prettiest of the hand embroidered gowns are those of white butcher's linen, elaborately embroidered with white linen floss in fruit designs, which are more or less raised. The favorite fruits for this purpose are cherries, grapes and currents. If the work is to be done at home cut out the parts to be embroidered, and see that they will fit correctly and then have them stamped with the desired design.

And many other painful and serious ailments from which most mothers suffer, can be avoided by the use of "Mother's Friend." This great remedy is a God-send to women, carrying them through their most critical ordeal with safety and no pain. No woman who uses "Mother's Friend" need fear the suffering and danger incident to birth; for it robs the ordeal of its horror and insures safety to life of mother and child, and leaves her in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. The child is also healthy, strong and good natured. Our book "Motherhood," is worth its weight in gold to every woman, and will be sent free in plain envelope by addressing application to Bradfield Regulator Co. Atlanta, Ga.

NEW GAME LAW EFFECTIVE

Prairie chickens may not be shot for four years, commencing July 1. The open season for quaits has been shortened ten days, and will be from Nov. 19 to Pecember 20, each year. Only 25 quail a day may be killed by a hunter. The new law does not change the season on wild fowl, but limits the bag that may be killed by a man in any one day to 50. Another point which is made emphatic is against selling game. No game killed in Illinois may be marketed, under heavy penalty. Deer and wild turkey are protected absolutely for a number of years.

who wishes to hunt must take out a license costing $1.

There are to be 10 game wardens under a head commissioner. They are to devote their entire time and attention to the work of game protection and shall travel over the state at all seasons of the year.

They are to receive $75 per month and traveling expenses. In addition there are to be in each county local deputy wardens, who are to be paid one-half the fines they get imposed upon violators of the law and $2 per day for actual time and expenses.

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fifful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and assy.

pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. Blanchard, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

when women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leuco rrhosa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that saring-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or stulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much another, and the result was so satisfactory that I les, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall I hope that my testimonial will convince women Compound is the greatest medicine in the world mb or any other female complaints."—Mrs. May Philadelphia, Pa.

"ROMEO AND JULIET" WITH ALL-STAR CAST

Kyrle Bellew and Eleanor Robson Essayed the Leading Roles Indifferently While Eben Plympton as Mercutio Overshadowed All Others.

ELEANOR ROBSON AS "JULIET."

There are nine actors in Liebler's all-star cast of "Romeo and Juliet" who have, during their divers and strenuous stage careers, essayed the role of Romeo. Needess to say each is firm in the belief that he is the only Romeo that ever came over

At the Olympic Theater a revival of Shakspeare's delightful play was given Monday and Tuesday afternoon, with Kyrle Bellew as "Romeo" and Eleanor Robson as "Juliet." From a physical standpoint Bellew is an ideal lover, and were it not for his effeminate mannerisms and self-consciousness, coupled with an extremely bed voice, his of the Veronese lover would be acceptable. Eleanor Robson as "Juliet is neither an Adelaide Neilson, a Mary Anderson nor a Margaret Mather, but she is a much better "Juliet" than is Bellew a "Romeo."

It is in the intensely emotional scenes that Miss Robson shines as a particularly bright star. The greatest test of Miss Robson's superb dramatic power was in her invocation of the vision of the charnel house and bloody Tybalt, in the fifth act. As for that delightful of all scenes the balcony wooing, it was a disappointment. Beliew's love-making lacked spontaneity; his voice had a false ring; he courted the audience even as he did Juliet; the abandon of youthful passion was marred by his efforts to keep the stray tions. No lover looks pretty when he is making love, particularly to a third party. The poison scene in the tomb of the Capulets was, as it must be, intensely dramatic, but the ovation that followed Bellew's portrayal of his tragic end did not compare with that to Eben Plympton as Mercutio, who was supremely dominant in every situation and who thrilled his audience, both in the Queen Mab speech and when he fouched the depths of tragedy with a lightning flash of blood and wit in his own
